

Keele University Honours Henry Faulds

On 15 September 2006 Keele University will honour the memory of Henry Faulds the father of fingerprinting by naming its Forensic Science Laboratories after him.

A plaque will be unveiled in his memory before an invited audience.

Among those who hope to attend is Donald Reid of Beith in Ayrshire who has campaigned for years to have Dr Fauld's contribution to the science of fingerprinting recognised.

For further information on Henry Faulds:

<http://www.shirleymckie.com/documents/Faulds14.12.05.pdf>